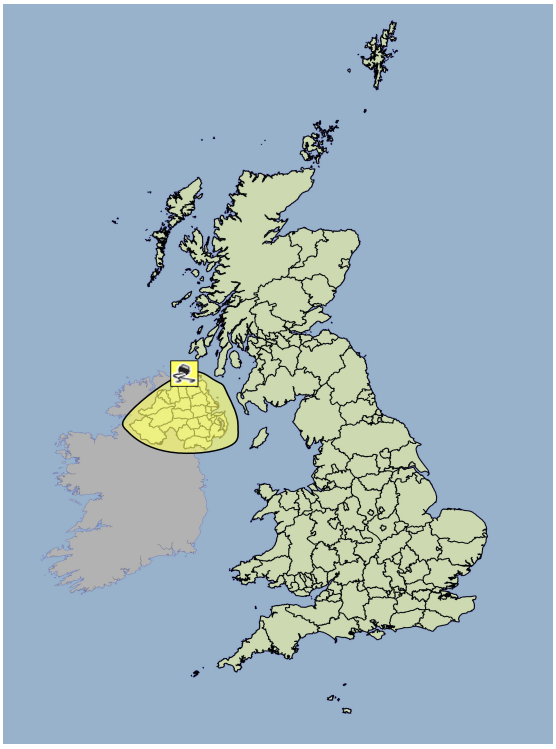
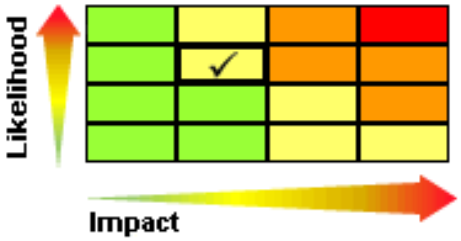
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
A cold, showery airstream covers Northern Ireland. Under clear skies falling temperatures will lead to the formation of ice on untreated surfaces, especially following any showers of a wintry mix and where seepage has led to wash-off of earlier road treatment.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Ice

Valid from 01:30 on Fri, 08th Jan 2016 until 09:00 on Fri, 08th Jan 2016

Icy patches are expected on untreated surfaces for the rest of the night at at first this morning. In addition, some showers of a wintry mix may still occur.

Please be aware that this could lead to some difficult driving conditions.

This is an update to the existing warning to focus on the risk of ice and confine it to Northern Ireland.
